
Shaping a Safer Tomorrow: How the SHY Foundation is Transforming Communities

Pune, Maharashtra | 23rd January, 2025

The SHY Foundation (where SHY stands for “Sexually Harassed Youngs”) is a non-profit organization dedicated to addressing sensitive issues like sexual offenses and harassment in India. The foundation has been working tirelessly to raise awareness and promote education on these critical topics.

One of their key initiatives includes conducting POCSO (Protection of Children from Sexual Offences) awareness sessions in schools, educating students from Kindergarten to Grade XII on child safety and legal rights. They also offer free training on POSH (Prevention of Sexual Harassment) and (Protection of Children from Sexual Offences Act) POCSO, equipping organisations with vital knowledge and certification.

A significant event organised by SHY Foundation was a two-day “Good Touch, Bad Touch” session at S.B. Patil Public School, where students from Junior KG to Grade XII were taught about personal safety. The session was led by Ms. Reshamm Bamb, the founder of the foundation and a passionate sexuality educator.

To support their ongoing community development projects, the SHY Foundation initiated a fundraising campaign. Students were encouraged to collect donations from local businesses and individuals, using official donation forms provided by the foundation for transparency and accountability. These funds were directed toward initiatives like education, healthcare, and skill development for underprivileged families.

The campaign not only raised vital funds but also fostered social responsibility among the students. Those who raised over Rs. 500 received certificates, and top fundraisers in each grade were awarded trophies. The initiative also deepened the community's involvement with the foundation, as many donors expressed interest in supporting future programmes.

Through these efforts, the SHY Foundation continues to empower individuals and communities, spreading awareness and making a significant impact on society.
